OVERVIEW

Getting rid of Termites successfully is a two-step process.

- (1) Attract the surrounding termites to a food source (bait station) and
- (2) Apply a Superway White Ant Termite Bait after termites have been detected.

Detect. Superway Termite Baiting Station works by attracting termites to a preferred source (timber) contained within the station itself.

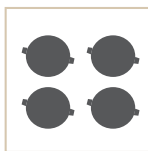

Destroy. Once termites have been attracted to the Baiting Station, they continue feeding and building up in numbers, travelling to and from the nest. When the number of termites has built up sufficiently, this is the time to apply Superway White Ant Termite Bait (Sold Separately).

Note: Superway White Ant Bait is only applied to the baiting stations after termites have been detected and are there in sufficient numbers (more than 10). The more you feed, the quicker the colony is destroyed.

BEFORE YOU START

Understand which positioning you are going to use: general positioning to safeguard the house, barrier positioning to prevent attacks from the neighbour's termites, or angled, to protect two sides of the house.

STEPS

Step one

Dig a hole to position the termite station. Preferably no closer than 1 m from the house.

* Each pack comes with only four (4) stations, so you may need to purchase extra stations if the layout requires.

Step two

Position two timber pieces into each station.

Step three

Put the weather cap on.

CHECKING TIMES

Check for termites every 3-4 weeks.

Repeat every 3-4 weeks if no termites are detected.

If termites are discovered, you will need SUPERWAY WHITE ANT TERMITE BAIT (Sold Separately) to add to the bait station or termite workings. This then works to destroy the ant colony.
